

In tune for the president

The Archbishop Ryan High School band, led by director Gene Ciccimaro, recently appeared as guest musicians at the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce luncheon for President George Bush. The band, shown here in the ballroom of the Wyndham Franklin Plaza Hotel in Center City, was recommended to the White House during preparations for the president's brief visit to Philadelphia shortly after his State of the Union address. More than 500 business executives attended the luncheon.